

Business DDOS protection.

We protect you before your online availability comes to a halt.

Digitalization requires constant online availability for companies and organizations such as e-Shops, e-admin/government services, e-banking, and online media. Unavailability leads to direct added costs, such as revenue and productivity losses, and indirect costs, such as the loss of trust. Distributed denial of service (DDOS) attacks that take your organization offline are becoming more and more frequent, clever, and targeted. DDOS attacks as a service can be purchased cheaply online. With the Sunrise Business DDOS protection service, you are protected from these attacks around the clock. The protection service will be tailored to fit your needs.

We stop DDOS attacks in the backbone itself

Business DDOS protection continuously monitors your Internet access, learning what your normal network traffic looks like. You will immediately be informed if something out of the ordinary happens. If the anomaly is a DDOS attack, you have the chance to mitigate it immediately yourself. Alternatively, you can take advantage of the services of our specialists around the clock. Business DDOS protection discovers and mitigates DDOS threats in the Sunrise Internet backbone, before your Internet connection or IT systems are overloaded. You define the services in your network that you need to protect. Business DDOS protection can be flexibly adapted to fit the specific needs of your organization. You can monitor and minimize the risk of suddenly being digitally absent.
