Automatic installation

You don't want any additional processes and rules for your employees for installing Business travel data packs via the Sunrise Cockpit? That's not a problem! For you, our business customer, the options are also available with "automatic installation". To set this up, simply select your company's preferred package size per region or zone; your employees can travel on business with no worries and without any manual activations. As soon as your employee uses data from abroad, Sunrise takes over and automatically installs the predefined package.
