

Indoor Coverage as a Service.

Enjoy the best Sunrise mobile coverage across your premises.

Independent tests have shown that Sunrise offers the best mobile network in Switzerland. Whether inside a repair shop or an underground garage, many businesses struggle with reception on their premises. In some structures, connectivity and reception may be less than optimal, weak or not available at all due to dense and well-insulated building shells. We thought about that. Now Sunrise is offering Indoor Coverage as a Service.

Enjoy your own mobile network inside your building

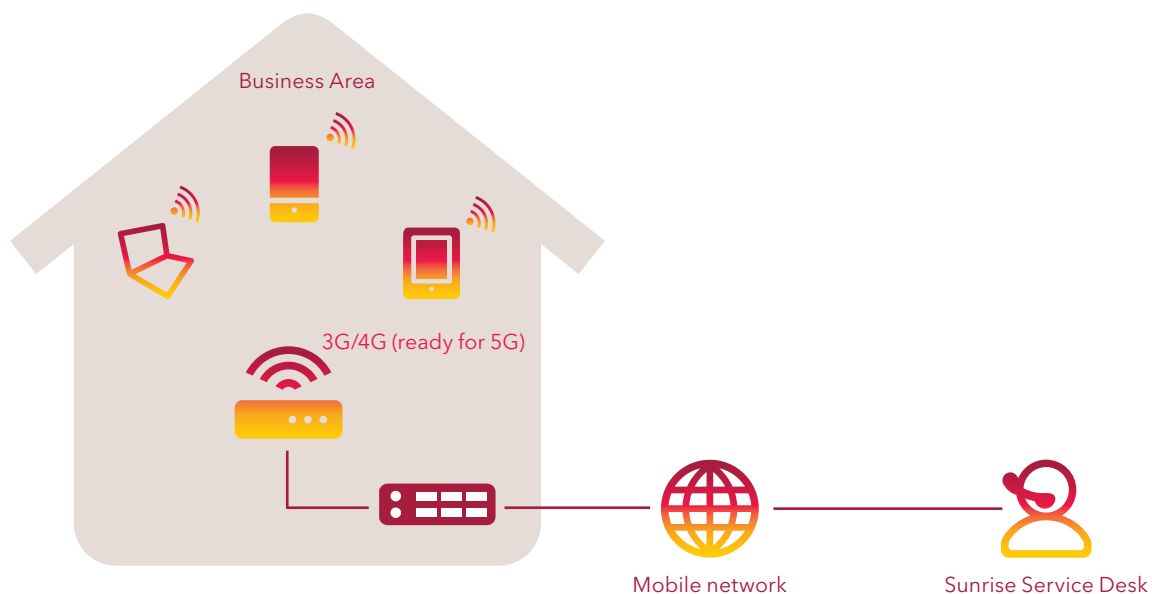

Sunrise Indoor Coverage as a Service sets you up with an efficiently deployed mobile network that curbs mobile bottle-necks inside your building. We are creating secure and mobile network capacity while ensuring trouble-free use of 3G/4G (ready for 5G). To this end, Sunrise is installing dedicated lines and making your entire infrastructure available, so you can enjoy high-quality 5G-ready mobile capacity service. You can now reap the benefits of having your own network in the workspace.

Base station on site

This architecture typically includes one base station on site and a passive antenna network that distributes mobile capacity in the building. Thanks to this solution, all requirements relating to a site upgrade, such as large spaces or multiple floors and buildings, can be met with ease. What's more, the new infrastructure will attract other providers to pay for its use.

Installation and service

Any evaluation and installation of the Sunrise Indoor Coverage as a Service solution takes about three months from initial contact to first use. Sunrise can offer you this service at an attractive price thanks to our service model and minimal use of cable. With this flexible model, you can receive a one-time bill or monthly bills. All services and infrastructure are fully operated, maintained and updated by Sunrise. You also have the option of entering into a Service Level Agreement (SLA) for your ICaaS by Sunrise.
