

Business travel data.

Work and surf abroad with a clear conscience.

With the new Sunrise Business travel data roaming options, you can send e-mails, use apps, and surf the Internet from anywhere in the world at an attractive price. Choose from different options depending on your data needs.

You can easily activate your travel data options via the Sunrise cockpit, which you can access from your mobile phone or PC at any time and at no charge. The Sunrise Cockpit also allows you to keep track of your current data roaming charges and to purchase travel packs as needed. Simply visit cockpit.sunrise.ch

What are the benefits of Business travel data?

- Tailored to your individual needs: select from attractive packages of different sizes.
- Available for all current Sunrise mobile subscriptions for business customers.
- Cost protection: You will receive an SMS notification before a package is used up and you incur additional costs.
- Cost protection: You can also block roaming data connections in the Sunrise cockpit so that it is only possible to connect with the Business travel data options.
- Considerably more attractive rates compared with standard roaming prices.

Automatic installation

You don't want any additional processes and rules for your employees for installing Business travel data packs via the Sunrise cockpit? That's not a problem! For you, our business customer, the options are also available with "automatic installation". To set this up, simply select your company's preferred package size per region or zone; your employees can travel on business with no worries and without any manual activations. As soon as your employee uses data from abroad, Sunrise takes over and automatically installs the predefined package.
