

Business mobile evolution. Customized offer for the perfect fit.

Business mobile evolution is first and foremost a custom offer tailored to meet the needs of the entire company. The price plan allows for maximum flexibility and at the same time minimizes administration costs.

Alternative billing models with inclusive services

In addition to standard billing methods, you can choose from our alternative billing options, which enable certain inclusive services or a complete flat rate.

Two kinds of alternative billing models are available:

1. Flat rate (pooling solutions) with quantitatively well-defined included services

Business mobile evolution gives you a great deal of flexibility to configure individual subscriptions. For instance, a certain number of services can be included in the subscription as a pool at a company level. These pools are called dynamic packs and could be based on your current volume, for example.

The Business mobile evolution rate plan provides various dynamic packs for voice, data and SMS. These dynamic packs are split up into three different areas: national, international, and roaming, and they can be customized to meet your exact needs.

Every globally active company has different requirements in terms of international and roaming options. In addition to the dynamic packs mentioned, we also offer you roaming options at the user level. You can of course also combine both variations and achieve maximum flexibility.

The size of each dynamic pack can be changed at any time to reflect your company's changing data volume needs over time. Customized dynamic packs reduce your administrative costs considerably.

2. Flat rate without volume restrictions

A flat rate with included services and without volume restrictions can be tailored precisely to your needs. You can choose from "only internal company calls included" options to "all inclusive" options and almost anything in between.
